

THINKING ENVIRONMENT®

Online Foundation Course

3, 4 and 8 February 2022

Developing a Thinking Environment® for Transformational Leading

How can we create a Thinking Environment in ourselves and in our interactions with others at home and at work? We will explore and practice how to transform everyday communication structures and engagements into clear thinking, energising, inclusive and collaborative experiences.

The quality of everything that human beings do depends on the quality of the thinking they do first. The single biggest factor influencing how well people think for themselves, with rigour, courage and grace, is the existence of a Thinking Environment. Bringing this environment alive is therefore, fundamental to good leadership.

- Nancy Kline

What's covered in this programme?

We'll explore vehicles for creating a Thinking Environment, including Rounds, Thinking Pairs, Dialogue, Open Discussion, Council Process, Transforming Meetings and Presentations. Each participant will also receive a 1-hour, private, one-on-one experience of a Thinking Session.

Leaders will leave with tangible, simple yet powerful approaches to generate independent, robust, generative thinking for decision making, problem solving and working with their direct reports, colleagues and stakeholders. In addition to learning about these structures, you will emerge from this programme having experienced a way of 'being' that enables a Thinking Environment that will enhance your leadership impact, communication competence and capability to build the relationships that form a strong foundation for team effectiveness and performance. Participants will receive a Certificate of completion which is a requirement for some further Time To Think® qualifications.
