

CILETTE HARRIS

"We all have a duty to make the world a place that works for everyone. We do this when we live consciously, are aware of what the moment asks of us and are willing to do it."

Experience & Skills

Cilette has 34 years' experience in organisation and personal development and served in several executive roles in Management Consulting, Human Resources, Organisation Development, and Change Management and Transformation. During her corporate career in consulting and financial services she partnered with executives and teams to determine and contribute to business strategies and effectiveness. Cilette is an experienced individual and team coach, and skilled in relationship dynamics, conflict resolution and process design and facilitation. She helps clients to grow through their relationships with themselves and others, so they can create and co-create value in every aspect of their lives.

Cilette does pro bono work with start-up and small businesses to establish purpose, strategy, and leadership capability.
