“

I am inspired by helping individuals, teams and businesses unlock new and empowering skills and realise their potential.

WORKING WITH LEADERS

Candida is a seasoned Learning and Development executive with over 25 years of L&D experience. Having held the role of L&D Executive for over 13 years in leading companies, she comes with a wealth of knowledge and first-hand experience on how to assist organisations and leaders build high-performance teams, growing a culture of accountability, enhancing engagement, and leading teams for success, and improve cohesion. Her experience spans multiple industries. With an energetic, can-do and charismatic style, she designs learning strategies, interventions and programmes that are fit for purpose and tailored to address the client's world. She can be relied on to think out of the box, ensure impact and include a healthy dose of energy – as a facilitator, she can engage her audience, sustain attention and maintain focus, delivering engaging and purposeful workshops. Candida has a wealth of experience to draw from to ensure that the workshops and solutions meet business objectives. Candida is also a seasoned INSIGHTS practitioner and Enneagram certified coach.
