

Jenny Leclezio

Executive & Business Coach

"My work is inspired by the idea of healing the world. This means reconnecting people back to themselves and each other so that we remember we are part of a community with a shared humanity. Together we are stronger is, for me, the essence of great leadership."

Experience

Jenny is a skilled facilitator and people practitioner with nearly 3 decades of corporate experience, half at a senior executive level in a blue-chip company. She has a proven track record of partnering with business leaders to deliver business strategy through mobilising and aligning human capital. She has extensive experience in financial services, the FMCG, manufacturing and retail sectors, ICT and mining industries.

Coaching Approach

Jenny coaches leaders with a combination of Integral Coaching, Deep Democracy and Time to Think. She works on the assumption that clients have the wisdom to work out their own solutions, and through her careful listening, enquiry and reflection helps clients to make the shifts they desire through reframing limiting assumptions and removing blocks. Jenny assists clients to become more conscious of themselves and their context, so that they are able to navigate their lives more constructively. Jenny has a specialized skill in helping individuals and teams resolve interpersonal conflict.

Qualifications & Accreditations

- M. Phil in Personal and Professional Leadership
- Professional Coaching Certificate
- Time to Think Coach
- Accredited trainer and facilitator in Lewis Method
- Accredited in The Leadership Circle